

ISSUE NUMBER

APRIL 2026

Featuring
Your name

MAIN C HARACTER

SHE'S AN ICON ,A LEGEND A
AND SHE IS THE MOMENT

WHAT'S INSIDE

Who's that girl
Inside her world!
The archives of her
In her own words

WHO'S THAT GIRL

An editor's letter is a message written for a variety of purposes, from friendly to formal. They can help the reader understand the content and creative direction of a certain issue, they can give the reader an idea of what they can find in the magazine, or they can explain the issue's theme and how it can resonate with them.

If you're thinking of writing an editor's letter yourself, make your intentions clear from the start. You can be fun and creative or straightforward, depending on your needs. For the main content of your letter, there are often three main parts: the introduction, main paragraph and conclusion.

Your letter's introduction can be a brief greeting, a few polite statements, or a background of why you're writing. The main paragraph is the bulk of your letter, containing the most important parts of your message. Finally, the conclusion sums up all your ideas. It can also include a closing statement or salutation. No matter what reason you have behind writing, it's best to be organised and plan the contents of your letter before publishing the magazine.

Your name
The main character

INSIDE THE WORLD OF

A magazine is a periodical publication, which can either be printed or published electronically. It is issued regularly, usually every week or every month, and it contains a variety of content. This can include articles, stories, photographs, and advertisements.

OUR NAME

A magazine is a periodical publication, which can either be printed or published electronically. It is issued regularly, usually every week or every month, and it contains a variety of content. This can include articles, stories, photographs, and advertisements.

THE ARCHIVE OF HER

An editor's letter is a message written for a variety of purposes, from friendly to formal. They can help the reader understand the content and creative direction of a certain issue, they can give the reader an idea of what they can find in the magazine, or they can explain the issue's theme and how it can resonate with them.

If you're thinking of writing an editor's letter yourself, make your intentions clear from the start. You can be fun and creative or straightforward, depending on your needs. For the main content of your letter, there are often three main parts: the introduction, main paragraph and conclusion.

Your letter's introduction can be a brief greeting, a few polite statements, or a background of why you're writing. The main paragraph is the bulk of your letter, containing the most important parts of your message. Finally, the conclusion sums up all your ideas. It can also include a closing statement or salutation. No matter what reason you have behind writing, it's best to be organised and plan the contents of your letter before publishing the magazine.

HER OWN WORDS

After writing all your articles and adding them to your layout, list down all the titles to set up your table of contents. You can add a brief description for each article or keep it simple and paste the feature titles on the page. Don't forget your page numbers too!

Finally, design your back page. Most magazines feature a full-page advertisement, which you're also welcome to do. Why not partner with a local business and feature their products? Not your style? Simply include some contact information and tell your audience how to reach you. Add your social media handles, email, or even any publication information you think they'd be interested in. You can even just extend your cover photo to keep things clean and simple. A magazine can be a great way to reach your audience and communicate your message to the world. With great, curated content, yours can be a bestseller in no time.

After writing all your articles and adding them to your layout, list down all the titles to set up your table of contents. You can add a brief description for each article or keep it simple and paste the feature titles on the page. Don't forget your page numbers too!

Finally, design your back page. Most magazines feature a full-page advertisement, which you're also welcome to do. Why not partner with a local business and feature their products? Not your style? Simply include some contact information and tell your audience how to reach you. Add your social media handles, email, or even any publication information you think they'd be interested in. You can even just extend your cover photo to keep things clean and simple. A magazine can be a great way to reach your audience and communicate your message to the world. With great, curated content, yours can be a bestseller in no time.

YOUR

NAME